

nexos+1

connecting to transform 23 & 24 october 2018

nexos+1: a journey in 4 steps

A two-day experience to discover valuable tools, information and networking opportunities to promote sustainable businesses and find solutions to real world problems.

Find inspiration in businesses that are shaping the future. Welcome to the place where your connections will transform the future

How do my decisions impact the future we need to build?

How can I find my own sense of purpose?

Discover the power of connecting with others to promote transformative business ideas.

nexos+1 kicks off with a shot of inspiration to help you understand your role and that of your organization in the face of present-day challenges.

Learn about the current social and environmental context to discover opportunities for sustainable businesses

How will future decisions be shaped by the new global context?

What is the new role of businesses?

Get updated on new trends that are changing today's economic, environmental and social context. Find out how purpose is transforming investment, technology and policy towards sustainability.

Find and connect your purpose with others.

Discover powerful tools that enable triple impact actions to tackle today's challenges

What tools are needed to address these challenges from a sustainability perspective?

Explore powerful tools which will help you deploy solutions and manage projects in line with innovation and science.

Engage with leaders of transformative business initiatives that improve peoples lives.

Connecting to transform! nexos+1 launches the challenge of bringing together solutions for sustainable cities

How can we design cities that face future challenges while regenerating life-sustaining ecosystems?

Join city champions to design functional solutions in innovation labs.

Connect businesses with ventures to solve water, waste, energy, mobility and sustainable consumption challenges.